The Rosary is taken from the Latin word "rosarium" which means "crown of roses" or "garland of roses." To us members of the Catholic Faith, the Rosary is a form of prayer that we use along with its namesake prayer beads.

According to pious tradition, the idea of the Rosary was given to Saint Dominic when the Virgin Mary appeared to him in an apparition in the year 1214. This

Marian apparition is given the title of Our Lady of the Rosary. The Dominican priest and theologian Alanus de Rupe promoted the practice of the Rosary by establishing the "fifteen rosary promises" and founding several rosary confraternities. Devotion to the Rosary is one of the most distinguishable features of popular Catholic spirituality. The Rosary inspires us to meditate on the mysteries of the lives of Jesus and Mary. Meditation is an important of our lives as Catholics. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church, meditation "engages thought, imagination, emotion and desire. This mobilization of faculties is necessary in order to deepen our convictions of faith, prompt the conversion of our heart and strengthen our will to follow Christ."

Praying the Rosary

The Rosary is a devotion in honor of the Virgin Mary. It is made up of a set number of prayers. At the start of the Rosary are the introductory prayers which are composed of one Apostle's Creed, one Our Father, three Hail Mary's and one Glory Be.

In the 16th century, Pope Pius V established the standard fifteen Mysteries of the Rosaries which are grouped into three, the Joyful Mysteries, the Sorrowful Mysteries and the Glorious Mysteries. In 2002, Pope John Paul II added a set of five to the existing fifteen mysteries and these became known as the Luminous Mysteries. Today, the total number of mysteries is twenty.

The Joyful Mysteries include the Annunciation (Luke 1:26-38), the Visitation (Luke 1:40-56), the Nativity (Luke 2:6-20), the Presentation of Jesus in the Temple (Luke 2:21-39), and the Finding of the child Jesus in the Temple (Luke 2:41-51).

Then comes the Sorrowful Mysteries include the Agony in the Garden (Matthew 26:36-46), the Scourging (Matt. 27:26), the Crowning with Thorns (Matt. 27:29), the Carrying of the Cross (John 19:17), and the Crucifixion (Luke 23:33-46).

The third mystery is Glorious Mysteries which are the Resurrection (Luke 24:1-12), the Ascension (Luke 24:50-51), the Descent of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:1-4), the Assumption of Mary into heaven (Rev. 12), and her Coronation (Rev. 12:1).

The Luminous Mysteries include the Baptism of Jesus in the Jordan, the Wedding at Cana, Jesus' Proclamation of the Kingdom of God, the Transfiguration and the Institution of the Eucharist.

The Rosary and Meditation

All throughout the history of the Catholic Church, many popes and saints have encouraged praying the Rosary. As we begin to understand and appreciate the Rosary and pray it more frequently, we come to see the true meaning of its meditations. We begin to appreciate how its prayers are reminders not only of Mary the Mother of God but of Christ himself.

FOURTH SUNDAY OF ADVENT CYCLE C

Our scripture readings are especially appropriate because they remind us of the fulfillment of the promises and hopes and of the power of the simplicities of Christmas, those simple but powerful truths that are the real spiritual fuel of this wonderful season. In today's first reading the prophet Micah announces the great promise of God: that the small tribe which settled in the insignificant town of Bethlehem will one day produce the ruler of Israel. But between that promise and its fulfillment there is a long interim period of destruction, suffering and exile. It is precisely that promise that gives substance to the hope of the people and gives a direction to their lives. At the end of the exile the remnant who still believe return to rebuild their lives in the hope that God will indeed keep his promises. Until now the prophet we have heard spoke about the Messiah in terms of a restored glory to the Temple and the city of Jerusalem. But Micah looks away from Jerusalem to the small town of Bethlehem. He says Messiah will be born not in the glitter and majesty of Jerusalem but in Bethlehem. His words remind us that the Lord is found in ordinary places.

The second reading from the letter to the Hebrews speaks here of the great sacrifice of Christ not in terms of Temple rituals but in terms of Jesus' life completely dedicated to the Father. "I have come to do your will." The greatest gift that we can give to the Lord and others is ourselves. At the beginning of Luke's Gospel, we are introduced to an aged, married couple who stay alive on that hope – Zechariah and Elizabeth, the parents of John the Baptist. They represent the hope that did not die, and they see fulfilled in their son, John, who is to prepare the way for the one from Bethlehem. And it is the fulfilled hope of that old couple which is given to Mary as a sign: "Know this too, your kinswoman Elizabeth has, in her old age, herself conceived a son... for nothing is impossible with God."

Mary hurries to see this sign of hope fulfilled. In the meeting of the old Elizabeth and young Mary the Old Testament meets the New Testament, the ancient promise meets its fulfillment in two mothers – Elizabeth, the mother of the last prophet who will go before the Lord, and Mary, the mother of the Lord himself. It is a time of good news, of great blessing. The old promises are new events, and now is the time of their long-awaited fulfillment. Mary's great gift to Elizabeth was the gift of her time, her assistance and support. There have been many deeply theological and spiritual reflections on the significance of the visitation. We should not forget that it was also a very human three-month visit of one relative to help another. And in the Gospel reading, Elizabeth tells Mary that she is blessed not only because she is soon to be a mother, but because she has believed that God's word would come to true. Beneath all the glitter and warmth of this festive season, a profound mystery is at work. But it can be perceived only with the eyes of faith. We look in the crib and see a God who loves us, not from distance, but in our very midst, as one of us. In addition to the fulfillment of God's promises and our hopes there are few simple truths of Christmas in all these readings. The Lord can come into the life of any person, into any place and he comes freely. The message of Micah about the little town of Bethlehem is that the light of Christ is among us where we are to illuminate the darkest streets of any person's life.

Second, the gift of ourselves is the most significant gift that we can give. Our commitment to the gospel and to the family is more important than anything else. The most important truth about Christmas is that Mary's visit to Elizabeth reminds us that the Lord's work and our most important gift takes place not just in moments of high drama but in the ordinary transactions of human contact and care. Mary's simple helping visit was Elizabeth's "Christmas". Let these simple truths of today's readings help us to go forward in our life. On Christmas day let us open our hearts wide to receive Christ the Lord.
